An Overview

Write back of loans:
- Section 41(1) and Section 28(iv) - Taxability of write back of loans
- Section 115JB - Applicability of MAT provisions for companies registered under IBC

Acquisition issues:
- Section 79 - Carry forward of tax losses in case of change in shareholding of certain companies
- Section 56 and Section 50CA - Implications for the companies registered under IBC and the bidders
Section 41(1) and Section 28(iv)

Provisions of Sec 41(1)
- Section 41(1) of the Act provides that remission or cessation of any trading liability which has been claimed as a deduction in any previous assessment year is taxable in the year in which such remission or cessation took place.

Provisions of Sec 28(iv)
- Section 28(iv) of the Act states that value of any benefit or perquisite (whether convertible into money or not) arising from the business or the exercise of a profession shall be chargeable to tax as income from business or profession.

Issue
- Taxability of waiver of loan of a corporate debtor under IBC.

Question:
What would be the tax implications of the said write backs?

Since the write back of 4000 is a result of write off of non-current liabilities, a view can be taken that this amount is not taxable under section 41(1) and section 28(iv) of the Act.

The write back of 5000 is a result of write off of operational creditors i.e. a trading liability. Hence, the amount would be taxable under section 41(1) of the Act.
Write back of loans – Summary

Trading Liabilities
- Trade creditors, operational creditors
- Taxable u/s 41(1) since cessation of trading liability

Financial Liabilities
- Financial borrowings for capital assets
- Not taxable u/s 28(iv) as waiver of loan in nature of cash or money
- Not taxable u/s 41(1) since not a cessation of trading liability & no deduction is claimed
- Above held by the Supreme Court in Mahindra and Mahindra Ltd (Refer Annexure 2)
Section 115JB

Minimum Alternate Tax

01. As per section 115JB of the Act, if the tax payable by any company on its taxable profits is less than an amount of 18.50% of the book profits of the company computed in accordance with that section, then MAT @ 18.50% on the book profits of the company is payable as tax by the company for that assessment year.

02. Initially, there was no carve-out from the provisions of this section for companies registered under the IBC. Later on, vide a press release, a deduction of the total amount of book loss brought forward (including unabsorbed depreciation) was allowed from the book profits of the company under IBC.

03. IBC has superseded the erstwhile SICA. As per the provisions of the Act, a deduction from book profits is available for the amounts of profits earned by a sick industrial unit until the company’s net worth becomes positive. However, there is no corresponding provision for companies under IBC.

No blanket exemption from MAT provisions for companies under IBC.

Computation of book profit u/s 115JB

Finance Act 2018 Amendment

Aggregate deduction of brought forward losses and unabsorbed depreciation for computing book profits in case of a company against whom application has been admitted by NCLT under IBC.

Scenario 1

Feb'18 – Application admitted
Benefit in FY18? - Yes
Sept'18– Resolution Plan approved by CoC
Will the benefit continue in FY19? - Yes
Dec’18 – Approved by NCLT
Can benefit be claimed post FY19? - Yes since the order is approved, no claim can be made

Scenario 2

Feb’18 – Application admitted
Benefit in FY18? - Yes
Jun’18 – Application withdrawn (90% CoC)
Will the benefit continue FY19 onwards? - No since the application is withdrawn – Possibility of withdrawal of FY18 benefit cannot be ruled out – more likely if application was filed by corporate debtor.

Scenario 3

Feb’18 – Application admitted
Benefit in FY18? - Yes
Jun’18 – Resolution plan rejected by CoC & Company undergoes liquidation
Will the benefit continue FY19 onwards? - No since the resolution plan is rejected – Possibility of withdrawal of FY18 benefit cannot be ruled out.
Section 79

Provisions of Sec 79

• Section 79 of the Income-tax Act, 1961 (the Act) provides that any change in the shareholding of a closely held company beyond 49% in the financial year vis-à-vis the shareholding on the last day of the previous year in which the loss was first incurred would lead to lapse of tax losses relating to that previous year.

Amendment to the section

• Section not to apply to any change in shareholding of a company, pursuant to a resolution plan approved by the Code.
• However, a reasonable opportunity of being heard has to be given to the Jurisdictional Principal Commissioner of Income Tax or Commissioner of Income Tax.

Issues

• For plans approved before F.Y. 2017-18, where no opportunity of being heard has been given to Principal Commissioner of Income Tax or Commissioner of Income Tax, will the tax losses lapse?

Question:

Whether the carry forward and set off of losses shall be available in FY 2018?

2 views

- Tax losses available since the provisions of section 79 not applicable where change in shareholding is pursuant to resolution plan approved under IBC

- Tax losses should not be available since change in shareholding pursuant to resolution plan is only 33% and remaining 33% change is due to internal transfer from Promoter 1 to Promoter 2
Section 56 and Section 50CA

Provisions of Sec 56(2)(viib)
- Triggered when a closely held company issues shares at an amount exceeding its fair market value computed in accordance with Rule 11UA of the Income-tax Rules, 1962.
- Provides for taxation in the hands of the company issuing the shares
- The difference between the fair market value of the shares and the amount at which they are issued is charged to tax

Provisions of section 56(2)(x)
- Triggered when no consideration is paid for property or consideration paid for property is less than the prescribed fair market value
- Provides for taxation in the hands of the recipient of property
- The term property includes shares
- Amount to be taxed
  - The fair market value – if no consideration paid
  - Difference between the fair market value and consideration – if consideration paid

Provisions of section 50CA
- Triggered where transfer of unlisted shares is at less than its fair market value
- Provides for taxation in the hands of the transferor
- The fair market value of the property is deemed to be the full value of consideration for the purpose of computing capital gains tax

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Question:

What will be tax implications of this transaction?

Yes. As there is no specific exemption to companies registered under IBC, the Target Co. will be liable to pay tax on the difference between the issue price and fair market value of shares i.e. Rs. 14/- per share u/s 56(2)(viib)

What if the fair value is Re. 1 and issue price is Rs. 10?
Case Study II

Promoters

Public shareholders

Buyer i.e. Bid Co.

65% 35%

A Ltd. (Target Co)

65%

Question:

What will be the tax implications of the said transaction?

As there is no specific exemption to companies registered under IBC, the Bid Co. will be liable to tax on the difference between the issue price and fair market value of shares as income from other sources u/s 56(2)(x)

Further, as per section 50CA, the fair market value will be the full value of consideration while computing capital gains tax in the hands of the promoter

A Ltd. is a listed company whose shares are suspended from trading. Under the resolution plan, the buyer intends to acquire the shares of A Ltd. at a price of Rs. 2 per share. The relevant data is as under:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Particulars</th>
<th>Value per share</th>

Facts of the case

- The assessee wanted to expand his product line for which it entered into an agreement with an American company A Co. for supply of tooling and other equipment through its subsidiary SA Co.
- To procure the tooling, A Co. agreed to provide a loan to the assessee.
- Later on, B Co. took over A Co. subsequent to which B Co. agreed to waive off the principle amount of loan advanced by A Co. to the assessee.
- The tax officer opined that waiver of loan represented income and not liability and hence, held the same to be taxable under section 28(iv) of the Act.
- On appeal, the CIT(A) taxed such waiver under section 41(1) rather than section 28(iv) of the Act.
- The Income tax Appellate Tribunal set aside the order of CIT (A) and deleted the addition made by the Tax Officer.
- The matter was then contested before the Supreme Court.

Decision

- On the applicability of section 28 of the Act it was held that income to be taxed under clause (iv) should have been in some form other than money.
- The waiver of loan resulted in extra cash in the hands of the debtor and the condition of benefit received in form other than money was not satisfied. Hence, provisions of section 28(iv) of the Act did not apply.
- The assessee was paying interest but did not claim deduction under section 36(1)(iii) of the Act for such interest payments, as the equipment purchased were capital assets in the hands of the assessee and was not debited to its Profit and Loss account. Therefore, they could not be classified as a trading liability.
- Section 41(1) of the Act deals with the remission/cessation of trading liability, whereas the waiver of loan amounts to cessation of liability other than trading liability. Hence, the provisions of section 41(1) of the Act shall not be applicable.
- Therefore, neither does section 28(iv) of the Act, nor does section 41(1) of the Act applies to waiver of the principal portion of the loan taken on capital assets.
